Sheetal Vridhi Bhava

Our architectural heritage comprised homes crafted from clay, embracing its natural ability to maintain a refreshing coolness throughout the year. Today, most homes are erected using cement, inadvertently amplifying the indoor heat levels even after the sun sets.

At Mantra Magnus, we use materials designed to absorb heat, preserving a comfortable temperature within your abode. An ideal balance between wall surfaces and windows, complemented by an overhanging "Chajja," allows only gentle daylight to filter into your living spaces while guarding against scorching rays.

Jal Vridhi Bhava

At Mantra Magnus, water isn't just a resource, it's a conversation we have with nature. Compliant with government norms and sourced through ethical channels, every drop whispers a promise of well-being. Premium fittings transform nature's bounty into a liquid poem, while a state-of-the-art treatment plant ensures each precious drop is cherished.

Vaayu Vridhi Bhava

Feel the caress of the cool breeze on your skin, the taste of clean air on your tongue, breathe in the rejuvenating freshness. The traditional Aangan has always been the beating heart of Indian homes.

The NBC norms prescribe an ACH of 3-6 times for healthy living. Mantra Magnus provides an ACH of 12-14 times, carrying forward the legacy of our ancient wisdom, and weaving air into a harmony of health.

Ujjwal Vridhi Bhava

Luminous Flux or Lux is a measure of light and is measured in terms of lumen.

1 lumen = 1 candlestick.

NBC states a healthy dose of the lumen of 108 from sunrise to sunset. Within Mantra Magnus, taking into account the celestial phenomena of Uttarayan & Dakshinayan, the sun's radiance unfolds, bathing every home with a generous LUX between 180 to 300.

Unwind. Connect. Elevate.

Beyond brick & mortar, is a haven where life transcends mere existence. Our premium amenities are not just add-ons; they are brushstrokes in the masterpiece of your life. They are the threads that weave your days with moments of quietude, playful connection, & exhilarating growth. They are the stage where you orchestrate a symphony of well-being, a testament to the art of living elemental.
